WKMS Will Use Satellite System

WKMS-FM, the public radio voice of Murray State University, will take on a distinctive new sound in February when it becomes the first radio station in west Kentucky to use a satellite distribution system to broadcast programs from all over the country.

An antenna "dish" 18 feet high and 14 feet in diameter was installed last week behind the Special Education Building on the campus terminal site for the Western Union WESTAR I satellite system.

Construction of the satellite terminal began in September. It is expected to be activated in early February when some of the electronic components are delivered, according to Bruce Smith, station manager.

"What this means for our listeners is a diversity of programs unmatched in the history of radio," he said.

The satellite system connects all noncommercial radio stations affiliated with the National Public Radio (NPR) network. The completed system, financed by federal funds from the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, will cost $18 million, with the terminal at Murray State to cost more than $70,000.

"Satellite distribution has moved public radio into a new era," said NPR President Frank Mankiewicz. "The satellite will make it possible for local audiences to receive live, full fidelity broadcasts of music, entertainment, and public affairs programs originating anywhere in the country or the world."

Smith pointed out that NPR has traditionally employed telephone lines to connect member stations around the country. He said only one program at a time can be distributed with the old system, and that the quality of the telephone lines is generally too poor to transmit music programs, which are mailed to stations.

"The new satellite system will allow the network to send as many as four programs at one time, and all will be of the highest audio quality," Smith explained. "For the first time, a station like WKMS will have a choice. If we don't want a particular network program, we can skip it — and perhaps use another that is coming at the same time."

Smith added that the satellite system is also expandable. He said it is possible that within a few years more than 20 channels (or programs) could be simultaneously transmitted by the network via satellite.

In January, the Federal Communications Commission approved the public radio satellite system, creating the first American radio network capable of transmissions in high fidelity, stereo sound. The Public Broadcasting System, the non-commercial television network, activated a similar satellite system a year ago.

WKMS is also involved in a local expansion project. When completed, it will boost its power from 13,000 to 100,000 watts, enabling more than twice as many people in West Kentucky, West Tennessee, Southern Illinois, and Southeast Missouri to hear the station.

"We hope that 1980 will be the year," Smith said, "when public radio becomes an important cultural resource for the people of this region."

Located at 91.3 on the FM dial, WKMS broadcasts a diverse schedule of fine arts and information programming, including classical, jazz, and bluegrass music, as well as drama, children's programs, book readings, and in-depth news and public affairs.

The station, which has a full-time professional staff of seven and more than a dozen student employees, is funded by Murray State University, federal grants, and listener contributions.

DISH TO SERVE SOUNDS — Workmen are shown in the process of installing the antenna "dish" on the terminal site at Murray State University that will make WKMS-FM, the university radio station, part of a WESTAR I satellite distribution system. The "dish," which is 18 feet high and 14 feet in diameter, is located behind the Special Education Building. The satellite system will provide WKMS the opportunity to offer a much greater diversity of programming through the National Public Radio network. Murray State's satellite terminal is expected to be activated in early February.

Security Council Delays Start Of Debate On Crisis

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The Security Council delayed the start of its debate on the U.S.-Iranian crisis until Saturday night, waiting for the arrival of Iran's acting foreign minister from Tehran.

The 15-nation council launched its public consideration of the crisis with a 16-minute session Tuesday afternoon at which it heard brief speeches by Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim and Council President Sergio Palacios de Vizzio of Bolivia. Then it adjourned until 9 p.m. EST Saturday.

Waldheim called on the United States and Iran "to avoid any action which could inflame" the situation further. Palacios de Vizzio urged Iran to release the 49 Americans held hostage in the U.S. Embassy in Tehran, renewing an appeal he made on behalf of the council on Nov. 9.

Iran's U.N. Mission said Acting Foreign Minister Abolhassan Bani Sadr would be in New York for the start of the debate Saturday night. But Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, the leader of Iran's revolutionary regime, rejected in advance any council resolution "dictated" by the United States.

Khomeini in a statement broadcast Tuesday also appeared to reject the only proposal for council action that has surfaced so far, a package deal in which the Iranians would free the American hostages and end the occupation of the U.S. Embassy in exchange for creation by the council of an international commission to investigate his charges that Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi was responsible for the death of "nearly 100,000 martyrs" and with his family and other associates plundered the Iranian treasury.

The ayatollah lumped together the charges against the shah and his charge that the American hostages were spies, saying any "investigation into the case of the deposed shah and the spies must be carried out only in Iran." He added that the hostages must be put on trial within the "spy den," his term for the embassy.

Iran had sought to delay the council meeting until next week while the United States demanded an earlier public session to call again for the release of the hostages. The United States also wanted to speak at the meeting, but after the council president made his new appeal U.S. Ambassador Donald F. McHenry told a news conference: "We came out just where we wanted to."

State Department officials in Washington said the U.S. government was willing to wait through the end of this week for U.N. action and the time had not come for a showdown. But President Carter scheduled a news conference tonight and told a group of Democrats at a meeting in Washington Tuesday: "I will protect the honor of our country and will not under any circumstances yield to blackmail."

Iran's chief U.N. representative, Jamal Shemirani, told the council

Shah Of Iran Expected To Return To Mexico Soon

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Shah of Iran is expected to come back to his Cuernavaca retreat within 10 days, a member of his public relations office said today.

Mark Morse, who arrived in Cuernavaca Tuesday from New York, told The Associated Press that "it all depends on when his medical treatment ends, but we believe he will be here in eight to ten days."

Morse was interviewed by telephone at the Villa Dos Rios in Cuernavaca where Shah Reza Mohammad Pahlavi lived after his arrival in Mexico June 10.

The shah travelled to New York on Oct. 22 for medical treatment.

Iranian militants seized the U.S. Embassy in Tehran on Nov. 4 and are holding hostages, demanding that the United States send the shah to Iran for prosecution.

debate on the crisis would not be "opportune and productive" until after the Shiite Moslem days of mourning Thursday and Friday for the founder of the sect, the Prophet Mohammed's grandson Hossein, who was assassinated in the seventh century.

Most Iranian Moslems are Shiites, and the holy days, known as Tasua and Ashura, are the occasion for fervent religious demonstrations in Iran. Last year hundreds of thousands marched through Tehran and other cities each day to protest the shah's rule.

As the holy days approached, rumors swept Tehran that the United States was planning an attack to free the hostages and that American agents would incite the demonstrating crowds to break in to the embassy so that a rescue could be attempted during the confusion.

The militant students holding the embassy since Nov. 4 announced that they had mines planted throughout the compound and would explode them if any attempt was made to break in.

Man Indicted On Homicide Charge

Johnny W. Scott, 20, 415 N. Fourth St., Murray, has been indicted by a Henry County, Tenn., grand jury on a charge of vehicular homicide in connection with a traffic accident last February which killed two local persons.

The indictment charges that he did operate a 1975 Chevrolet while under the influence of alcohol and the accident occurred as a result of his intoxication.

Jo Ellyn Russell and Larry Benjamin Norsworthy, both of Murray and passengers in Scott's car, died after the Scott vehicle ran into the rear of a tractor-trailer rig on Highway 641 South between Puryear, Tenn., and Hazel, Tenn. Scott, four other persons riding in his car and James B. Johnson, 31, Louisville, driver of the truck, were hospitalized with injuries from the accident.

Tennessee State Trooper Ken Kesterson reported after the accident that both vehicles were traveling north when the accident happened. He said alcohol was apparent and ordered blood alcohol tests run on the deceased persons and Scott.

Kesterson did not estimate the car's speed after the accident but noted that the car's unswerving skid marks measured 44 feet. The truck was reportedly traveling 50 miles an hour at impact, the trooper said.

Scott was scheduled to appear in Henry County Circuit Court Monday for arraignment on the charge but did not appear since he has not yet been arrested by the Henry County Sheriff's Department.

Since Scott is not a Tennessee resident, some form of extradition would have to take place before he can be charged with the offense. Henry County authorities have stated that if Scott does not sign a waiver of extradition, they will start extradition procedures.

Christmas Trees To Be Among Items Costing More This Year

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The countdown to Christmas has begun and shoppers can add another item to the list of things that will cost more this year — Christmas trees.

The National Christmas Tree Association says prices for live trees will be about 5 percent to 7 percent higher than they were last year. Association spokesman Donald L. McNeil blames the increase, which the growers describe as "nominal," on transportation and handling costs.

McNeil says prices for good to top-quality trees should range from $2.50 to $3.50 a foot. He also said, however, that there will be more trees available at the top end of the price scale than at the bottom.

In contrast to last year, when there were spot shortages of trees, the 1979 supply is expected to be adequate to meet the demand. The growers association predicts about 30 million live trees will be sold during the upcoming holiday season.

Artificial and real trees are now about equal in popularity. Artificial trees — McNeil, admitting to bias, prefers to call them "fake" — made a splash in the late 1960s and early 1970s, but the real variety has regained some of its popularity in the past five years.

Studies conducted for manufacturers of artificial trees indicate that sales are expected to reach $115 million a year by 1980. The studies also show that people are choosing more expensive varieties of artificial trees, with some of them costing $60 or more.

The most popular type of real tree is the Scotch pine which accounts for 37 percent of the market, according to the growers association. It has needles which occur in clusters of two and are usually twisted, 1½ to 3 inches long and blue or grayish-green in color.

The Douglas fir — picked by 35 percent of buyers — is the second favorite. You can recognize this species by its horizontal branches, flat, short needles and blue-green or dark yellow-green color.

The best trees have a symmetrical shape and are tapered at the top. They are full all the way around. If your tree will be in the middle of the room, the fullness and symmetry are important.

If, however, you're going to stand it in a corner or close to a wall, you may be willing to sacrifice shape in exchange for a lower price.

Freshness is a major factor. Here's what to look for:

—Needles that spring back into place when you bend them.

—Needles that are firmly attached.

BEOG Grants, Number Of Students Increase At MSU

Both the number of Murray State University students receiving Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG) awards and the total dollar amount awarded on the campus have increased dramatically in the past year.

Charles Vinson, loan-grant coordinator in the Student Financial Aid Office at Murray State, said 1,836 students have received $859,232 in BEOG money this fall, compared to 1,150 who received $507,867 in the fall semester of 1978.

Keep your tree in a relatively cool place, away from fireplaces, radiators or electric heaters. Do not rely on do-it-yourself flameproofing treatments. The Consumer Product Safety Commission says they are "virtually impossible to apply correctly at home."

The average fall semester BEOG award, however, has increased by less than 6 percent from the fall of 1978 to the fall of 1979 — from $442 to $468.

He said figures for both years reflect awards made through Oct. 31.

Vinson emphasized that students may still apply for BEOG assistance for the 1979-80 school year. He said an application should be made before March 15, 1980.

Applications may be obtained in the Student Financial Aid Office, Basement, Sparks Hall, Murray State University, Murray, Ky., 42071.

Carter To Appeal To America's Honor At Conference Tonight

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter, appealing to America's sense of honor, hopes to rally public opinion and to convince Iran of American solidarity during tonight's prime-time news conference.

At the news conference, scheduled for 8 p.m. CST, Carter is expected to insist anew that the United States will not yield to "blackmail" by militants still holding 49 Americans hostage at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

Carter said Tuesday that the honor of America is at stake in the embassy seizure, and said the hostages have been threatened at pistol point and forced to make statements in which they did not believe.

Speaking to a group of Democrats working for his re-election, he said, "This is a reprehensible thing, a disgrace to every person who believes in civilization and decency."

"I will protect the honor of our country and will not under any circumstances yield to blackmail," Carter said. His remarks were recorded by radio station WGIR in Manchester, N.H.

White House and State Department officials are saying meanwhile that they want to keep the 24-day-old Iranian crisis on "hold" until the U.N. Security Council meets again Saturday.

The administration fears Iranian leaders believe they can "win some battle for American public opinion and that the American people will end up supporting their demands" for a trial of the deposed shah, said a White House official who asked not to be named.

The official said Carter hoped to dispel that impression at his news conference.

The president chose his most stately setting, the East Room of the White House, and set the time to get the largest possible audience. Ordinarily, Carter holds news conferences in the afternoon in an auditorium of the Executive Office Building.

U.S. officials said Tuesday it is possible some useful discussions could take place this weekend if Iran's foreign minister, Abolhassan Bani Sadr, shows up for the U.N. debate on the embassy siege.

Even before his afternoon comments about American honor, Carter had told Democratic congressional leaders at a breakfast meeting that the release of the hostages by Iran will not "wipe the slate clean" between the two nations.

That remark sent Carter's chief spokesman, Jody Powell, scurrying to deny that the remark meant Carter intends some sort of punishing action against Iran whether or not the hostages are eventually released unharmed.

Sen. Bennett Johnston, D-La., attended the breakfast with the president and told reporters later: "He did not suggest what further action might be taken, but I think all of us feel, including the president, that he will do something else after the hostages are released.... There are a whole range of options — not necessarily involving military action."

Johnston also said, "The president made it clear, and that's one thing he emphasized, that the honor of the country comes first, before the lives of the hostages."

Rainey's Day

By RAINEY APPERSON

The question is — Can a small town girl from Kentucky find happiness in the Ivy League? — the answer is YES — if the young woman is Stacy Overbey, 19-year-old daughter of Don and Sue Overbey, who is a freshman at Wellesley College in Wellesley, Mass., 12 miles southwest of Boston.

In Stacy's own words her first few months at Wellesley have been a culture shock, but she said she wasn't sure whether it was just college itself or being in that part of the States. She said at first she felt that she didn't belong there — maybe she was just away at camp. She explained that so many of the girls come from eastern prep schools, which can be intimidating to a public school graduate.

She feels very very lucky to be there, and really appreciates her opportunity. Wellesley has a way of instilling that a woman can pretty much conquer the world. When a senior graduates she feels very self confident and well prepared.

Even the sports are different — they have crew, squash, soccer and volleyball. Stacy, who ran track in high school and played tennis, is taking squash this go round.

This poised, self-assured young woman did come up with the conclusion that one of the drawbacks of this fine old girl's school is the social life — there are no sororities, only a couple of social clubs — but there again the total emphasis is on academics. Harvard and Massachusetts Institute of Technology are two boys' schools, just a stone's throw away.

At this time, Stacy hasn't decided on a major, but is leaning toward journalism — but she also admitted to a big dream of maybe going to Harvard Law School someday.

There is a special aura about this Wellesley freshman that quietly proclaims that she will attain any goal that she reaches for.

Joe Buddy McDougal made his family happy with his flying trip home to be with them this Thanksgiving. Sue, Scott and Steve love to see his smiling face when he arrives from his job over near Richmond, Virginia. He is now working with a furniture manufacturing company over there, and he was saying the Virginia folks have a most enchanting accent.

Nothing like a flash of something from home to stir one's blood. Kent Eversmeyer was up in New York with the honor he received with the McDonald's All American band, and low and behold he sees a flash of black and gold Murray High coats. Julie Sams and Karen Brandon wave and yell to him, and there they are in the flesh. Julie and Karen were traveling with Lambuth College students on a special trip through the east last week, and they ran into Kent. You just never know who you will see from home when you're traveling these days.

Dale Leys Of Murray Will Conduct Workshop At Paducah Art Gallery

A drawing workshop will be conducted by Dale Leys on Saturday, Dec. 1, at the Paducah Art Guild Gallery. The workshop will last from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., and is open to artists of any level. Leys will stress the use of values and tones in drawing. Ground up conte crayon and charcoal will be the media used. Maximum enrollment is 15 people.

The fee for the workshop is $12 for Art Guild members, and $15 for non-members. Participants will be responsible for their own materials, and a list will be provided. Participation is by advance enrollment only.

The deadline to sign up for the workshop is 4 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 29. Enrollment will be taken at the Guild Gallery during regular hours, or can be done by sending a check to the Paducah Art Guild, P. O. Box 634. Sign up will be on a first come-first served basis.

Dale Leys is an Assistant Professor of the Art Department at Murray State University. He holds an MA and an MFA from the University of Wisconsin-Madison, both with a concentration in drawing. He also has a BFA in Art from the Layton School of Art and Design, Milwaukee.

Leys has had his work exhibited throughout the Midwest, including having work accepted for the 30th and 31st annual Mid States Art Exhibition at the Evansville Museum of Arts and Science. He and his work have been written about in School Arts and Art Voices-South magazines, and he has had a drawing published in the 3rd National Drawing Exhibition Catalogue of the State University College at Potsdam, New York.

Leys' art work reflects his very distinctive style and technique of working. Rather than developing a drawing with pencil or charcoal on a blank sheet of paper by adding more and more lines, Leys grinds up conte crayon or charcoal and drops the powder on to a piece of paper which is placed upon the floor. General forms and shapes created by this action are then refined by erasing, and drawing in a more traditional manner. Leys' uses his images upon forms found in nature, and his art has an organic feel to it. He makes frequent trips to the lake area to seek out new objects from which to work, and maintains a large collection of these natural forms for his own reference. His work is characterized by rhythmic motion and rich tones.

The Paducah Art Guild Gallery is located at 200 Broadway in the old Market House. Hours are 12-4 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday, and 1-5 p.m. Sunday. The Gallery is closed on Mondays, and admission is free. For more information about the workshop call 442-2453 or visit the Gallery.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

Dog-Tired, Barks Back

DEAR ABBY: In response to the complaint about barking dogs, you said, "There's a law against disturbing the peace. Call the police!"

That's easy for you to say; you don't live in Lancaster, Ohio. I do, and it wouldn't work here. True, there is an ordinance, but lawyers say it cannot be enforced, so it would be useless to take the matter to court.

In Lancaster, the dog owners have all the rights; people bothered by barking dogs all night just have to put up with it.

Maybe Ralph Nader can do something about this type of noise pollution. Please ask him.

CONSTANT HEADACHE IN OHIO

DEAR HEADACHE: Ralph Nader is more concerned with four-wheeled "dogs" than four-legged ones. But if he has any suggestions, I hope he'll send them my way.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 64-year-old, fairly attractive widow. After losing my husband of 40 years, I sold my home and moved to a lovely retirement community. This place would be paradise if it weren't for the women who live here with their husbands.

I have never seen such jealousy! They watch their men like hawks when I'm around. I used to be in business and have always felt comfortable around men, but since living here I'm afraid to be myself. I watch every word I utter, being careful not to come on too strong with the men, or be too charming or entertaining for fear some woman will think I'm trying to steal her husband. I once had a winning personality, but now I feel like a stupid, frustrated bump on a log.

When my husband was alive, I always encouraged him to dance with single women. Now when the music starts I go home and powder my face for fear some man will ask me to dance and his wife will think I'm having him the come-on.

What's a widow to do?

FRUSTRATED IN ARIZONA

DEAR FRUSTRATED: Be yourself, and don't try to second-guess other women. You can't know what they're thinking. The chances are that they are just as generous as you were in bygone years, but your sudden single status has caused you to be slightly self-conscious, insecure and perhaps a touch paranoid.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 27-year-old woman who has never married. I've had lots of boyfriends, but I've never had a lasting relationship with anyone.

About four months ago I met a terrific guy. He's 36, recently divorced, and just what I've always wanted. He told me on our very first date that he is not marriage material, wants no commitments and doesn't want to get serious. He said if I wanted to see him on those terms, we could have a lot of fun together.

I'm pretty sure I'm not the only girl he's dating, but our Saturday night dates last until Monday morning.

My problem is I've fallen in love with him. I've tried to date other guys, but my mind is always on him. I can't kid myself, Abby. I want marriage.

My head tells me this guy is not marriage minded, but my heart won't let me quit seeing him. What should I do?

HURTING IN ASHEVILLE

DEAR HURTING: If you want marriage, you're wasting a lot of time, energy and love on a man who told you up front that he's not marriage material. The word from here is, say goodbye and tell him why. And if you never hear from him again you'll be lucky.

If you need help in writing letters of sympathy, congratulations or thank-you letters, get Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for all Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

THE ACES[®] IRA G. CORN, JR.

"If you are out to describe the truth, leave elegance to the tailor." — Albert Einstein

East had no desire for the truth in his defense of today's interesting game. Had he played routinely, declarer would have made his game easily. East opted for a little lie and his plus score was earned with elegance.

North's cue bid after a takeout double described a very strong hand and South tried three hearts to show a hand better than it might have been. After North raised to game, South correctly decided that it would be better to play in his six card trump suit.

West led the king of spades and dummy's ace won. The club king drove out West's ace and the contract was on the road to fulfillment. Declarer's losers would go on the clubs and the defense would be held to the two black honors.

What happened to turn the tables? At trick one, Gene Prosnitz of New York City false-carded with the spade 10 — for all the world, he had a doubleton. When West won his club ace, he continued with the queen and another spade and declarer went for it.

Positive of a third round ruff by East, declarer countered that imaginary threat by ruffing with dummy's ace. After all, he could still make his contract by finding a 3-2 break in trumps.

Well, East followed with a third spade and declarer knew he had been hoodwinked. East's clever falsecard had promoted East a trump trick and the "laydown" game went down one.

Too much bran?

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR LAMB — I have never seen anything about the possible adverse effects of too much bran in the diet. I have read that there is such a thing as too much bran. I eat bran daily because it seems that it's the only effective food, other than laxatives, that will work on my system. Is this all right?

DEAR READER — The old phrase "too much of a good thing" applies to almost everything. We need sunshine but if we get too much, we are sunburned and repeated exposure increases the chances of skin cancer. We need oxygen to sustain life but too much can cause oxygen poisoning and death. We need food but too much, particularly of rich foods, will lead to obesity.

Yes, there is such a thing as too much bran in the diet for some people. The increased bulk appears to decrease the absorption of some vitamins and minerals. For this reason, people who take large amounts of bran won't hurt their system any if they use one standard all-purpose vitamin tablet a day that contains iron. People who use ordinary amounts of bran or just ordinary whole cereal do not need to do this. Besides, most commercially prepared cereals are already fortified with additional vitamins.

The other problem is that some people with disorders of the stomach, particularly gastric ulcers, don't tolerate increased bulk so well. Bulk appears to be good for the colon and not so good for the stomach. However, the bulk in the diet will delay emptying of the stomach which is important to some people, such as those who tend to have low blood sugar an hour or two after eating. The delayed emptying of the stomach seems to smooth things out and prevent such reactions.

Finally, it should be mentioned that particularly in the first three or four weeks of increasing the amount of bran in the diet a person may experience enormous amounts of gas. This is very uncomfortable, particularly to people who are already having colon problems. Usually this phase will pass and the colon will adjust to the increased amounts of bulk. Another approach is to very gradually increase the bran in the diet, thereby avoiding having the colon to have to make such a big adjustment all at once.

There are other important aspects to managing the bowel besides just increasing the bulk in the diet. To give you information on this, I am sending you The Health Letter number 2-1, Irritable Or Spas-tic Colon And Constipation. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Improved colon function is good enough reason to include at least a modest amount of bran in the diet. You can get a lot of that from using whole wheat products such as real whole wheat bread and whole grain cereals.

There is also some evidence that the improved colon function may help prevent colon cancer — the second most common cause of cancer deaths in both men and women in the United States. This point is debated by different researchers, but there is enough evidence to suggest that the prudent person will lean toward improving the amount of bulk in the diet as long as it is well tolerated.

PAUL KIESOW, local plant manager for Fisher Price Toys, spoke at the November meeting of the Kappa Department of the Murray Woman's Club. His presentation included a toy display, information about the history of Fisher Price, and facts concerning the manufacture of toys, safety standards, and related topics. Hostesses for the meeting were Linda Haverstock, Kathy Newton, Rita Ford, and Lanette Hunt. New members introduced by Tonda West, department chairman, at the meeting were Janet Wallis, Linda Walker, Marilyn Dill, Gail Vinson, Paula Compton, Sandy Fulton, Anita Jones, Sandy Cantrell, and Jan Cooper Taylor. Plans were announced for the annual Kappa Christmas party to be held Tuesday, Dec. 4, at 6:30 p.m. for children of Kappa members.

Christmas is a drag.

How many times have you said or at least thought this? It can be a drag if we let it.

At this time of the year it's good to slow down long enough to realize what Christmas is all about. It isn't just trying to find gifts for all the relatives or having to wade through all those noisy parties. It isn't the tinsel and colored lights, nor is it noxious things like chestnuts on an open fire. It isn't even the celebration of the birth of the Christ Child.

The real reason for celebration is for the expression of God's love in His act of placing His own Son on an extremely hostile little planet called Earth.

During this Christmas holiday, go into a church and let the reality of this thought soak deeply into your soul. Come to the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) and share these moments with us. Celebrate with us this glorious expression of God's love through His Son.

Let's make it a really merry Christmas.

Cost Of Living And The Index

NEW YORK (AP) — The consumer price index rose 1 more percent in October, and that, you say, means that your cost of living also rose by 1 percent — or more than 12 percent a year. But it shouldn't have.

It shouldn't have, for example, if you followed elementary economic reasoning and your own common sense. But if you haven't been doing that, you still might find your cost of living hasn't risen nearly as fast as the CPI.

The Commerce Department, which compiles the CPI, also compiles other figures, less well known but maybe more accurate, that strongly suggest the true increases in living costs have been at a rate of less than 10 percent a year.

The CPI's flaws have been known for years, but soaring inflation is accentuating them. Ironically, it is also causing some users to swear by the CPI. Those on cost-of-living escalators, for example.

But for those who want to believe the inflation rate may be lower than it is thought to be there is plenty of evidence.

1. The CPI is a fixed-weight index, meaning the items in the so-called marketbasket of goods and services retain their relative weight no matter what happens to prices.

The items chosen for that basket were what urban consumers were apt to buy in the years 1972-1973. But people tend to buy less of what rises in price.

There is evidence this has occurred. Statistics indicate some shift from red meat to poultry, eggs and a variety of pastas.

Fuel conservation is also catching on. Homeowners are insulating and adapting to lower temperatures. Motorists are driving smaller cars and, according to preliminary studies, are probably driving less.

2. The CPI distorts increases in housing costs, and these rapidly rising costs account for a sizable amount of recent CPI changes.

Only a percentage of families buy homes in any year. But the rising costs of homebuying, and the big increases in new mortgage costs — especially in the past few months — are applied to all homeowners.

There is a substitute for the CPI in what is called the implicit price deflator for personal consumption expenditures (PCE).

According to Citibank, which studied it, the PCE is more accurate because it is compiled on the basis of the actual consumer spending mix, rather than being based on what consumers used to buy in the past. Secondly, it uses a more accurate treatment of shelter costs.

Why then do we continue using the CPI? It's a familiar measurement, coming out every month. The PCE is issued quarterly. Then there are those cost-of-living clauses.

Finally, as CPI defenders point out, the divergence between CPI and PCE hasn't always been so great. Housing prices and financing costs — 20 percent of CPI, says Schoenfeld — have magnified the spread.

Besides, say some, when inflation gets into double figures, 2 percent or 3 percent shrinks in significance.

Iran Dominates

WASHINGTON (AP) — While the lives of the 49 Americans held hostage in the U.S. Embassy in Tehran are in jeopardy, the Iranian crisis will dominate U.S. politics despite the reluctance of politicians to press it as an issue in the presidential campaign.

Once the crisis in Tehran ends, the Carter administration is certain to face tough questioning, both from the president's political opponents and from congressional committees concerned with foreign policy.

"Once the release of the hostages has been secured — and only then — will it be appropriate to hold a congressional investigation," said Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. "All avenues will then be open."

But with the Americans still captive, most politicians have united behind the president's efforts to reach a peaceful resolution of the crisis.

"I think it is important, or imperative, that Americans speak with one voice and that we support the administration," Sen. Edward M. Kennedy said in a broadcast interview Sunday.

Kennedy has maintained that position since the crisis began four weeks ago, three days before the Massachusetts senator formally opened his campaign to wrest the Democratic presidential nomination from President Carter.

Former Gov. John B. Connally of Texas, campaigning for the Republican presidential nomination, is the only major candidate outspokenly critical of Carter's efforts to gain the release of the hostages.

"I don't know that I would do anything differently from what the president has done, but I just don't know what he has done," said Connally in a broadcast interview.

Rep. Philip Crane of Illinois, a Republican presidential hopeful, praised Carter's handling of the situation, then said the president "has to assume total responsibility for this happening in the first place."

Reading between the lines of the statements coming from Capitol Hill and the campaign trail, it becomes clear that the president will face questioning about the decision to allow deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi to enter the United States for medical treatment.

Carter also is likely to face plenty of second-guessing on whatever action he takes after the hostage impasse is ended.

No matter what the outcome of the embassy takeover, no matter what action Carter takes, a lot of people will be dissatisfied.

At the moment, Carter is benefiting from the tradition of the American people to rally around the president in times of crisis. That support may not last long.

The Story Of Calloway County 1822-1976

By Dorothy and Kerby Jennings

Copyright, 1978

The new $90,000 post office at the southwest corner of the square was opened for inspection July 13, 1932. First class mail advanced from 2 cents a letter to 3 cents on July 1, but the new structure in Murray had nothing to do with the government raising the rate 50 per cent when everything else was going in another direction.

The stamp increase was not to blame, but the folks in Lynn Grove raised a howl over high taxes at a protest meeting held July 20. Their message was loud and clear for hundreds gathered a few weeks later backing the Lynn Grovers all the way in a protest meeting at the court house. But federal and state governments were having the same kind of money-shortage as were Callowayans.

The public threat to close Murray State College as an economy measure ignited the wrath of indignant Callowayans beset with abundant problems as it was. W. O. McIntyre's column in the Courier-Journal lit the torch when he chronicled that the school was built on a farm that Dr. Rainey T. Wells couldn't sell but peddled to the state, lived in a house he owned in the middle of the campus, and subsequently made himself president to run the school. As a result of the column, townsmen gathered in mass meeting at the First Methodist Church to protest the writer's critical remarks. The incident did provide a little needed excitement and resulted in a more united county rallying to the support of its most popular standardbearer.

College teachers began to feel the economy squeeze when they received two months delayed pay and "script" for unpaid balance, a sort of hopeful IOU. Faculty salaries were cut 30 per cent, adding insult to their financial misery. Warnings were made against persons spreading rumors against the validity of the script, in addition to spreading rumors against banks. Threats simply multiplied the talebearers. County teachers in 54 one-room and 12 two-room schools felt the tight money pinch when their paltry salaries were cut 25 per cent in addition to getting shipplasters for money due. On May 5, the county newspaper reported a "Riot of Crime," the theft of an automobile, one holdup, and 20 chickens lifted from their roostpole. Four million pounds of tobacco found its way in the pool because there were no buyers even at give-away prices. The City of Murray cut salaries 10 to 20 per cent, and farm extension and health officers let out by the Fiscal Court for lack of funds.

HEARTLINE

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems — fast. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write Heartline, 114 E. Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. You will receive a prompt reply, but you must include a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

HEARTLINE: It seems as if I am looking for a needle in a haystack, and I am hoping you can help me.

My wife and I are both totally disabled as a result of an auto accident, and in addition, I've got all kinds of physical problems. I am getting Social Security disability benefits, total incapacity retirement from my former place of employment and a small non-service-connected disability pension from the Veteran's Administration. But my wife seems to be a misfit in this great society of ours, in that she cannot get help in any form whatsoever from any agency.

She is a natural-born citizen of this country, contributed to the war effort during WWII and even worked until our second child was born, at which time she interrupted her career to raise a fine, upstanding family. Now it seems that because of that action, she is being penalized.

My wife loves to read (I tell her jokingly that if she had nothing else to read, she would read the telephone directory) and she came across an ad for a book, a confidential report, entitled "How to Get Every Dollar Uncle Sam Owes You."

Now, believe me, I am not out to skin the government, nor do I feel the government owes us a living, but if money that we are entitled to is somewhere out there, then I'd like to get it.

After receiving the book, I came across one chapter which makes reference to two federally funded programs called Aid to the Blind and Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled, and as you can see from the copies I am sending, these programs are supposedly administered by the Welfare Department.

I called the Welfare Department and spoke to a woman who said she is in charge of the Aid to the Blind program but claims ignorance of the Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled program. She said perhaps I am speaking of the SSI program, and my response was in the negative because my report states both programs are handled by Welfare.

I've asked just about everyone I can think of about this program, but it seems to be a better kept secret than the Manhattan Project.

Just recently, I came across the enclosed application for the Pennsylvania Property Tax, Refund Program. It makes specific reference to the SSI and Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled programs as two entirely different entities. Thought I'd see what you have to say. — F.K.

The application for the Property Tax or Rent Rebate Program, with the heading of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Department of Revenue, 1978, does imply that there is a program titled "Welfare Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled."

We talked to several representatives of Welfare and Public Assistance offices in several states. Pennsylvania Welfare officials told us that Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled was replaced by SSI in 1974. SSI also replaced programs generally titled Aid for the Blind and Aid for the Aged.

We checked also with the Department of Revenue, the people who send out the form, and it was confirmed that this program you are inquiring about does not exist — it was replaced by SSI in 1974, and the reference to this non-existent program on the application for rent rebate is misleading and a goof. (Something that should have been deleted in 1975 but never was.)

Never Underestimate The Power Of People

WASHINGTON (AP) — Never underestimate the power of a person, especially if it's a woman.

That seems to be a new political law among the candidates, all of them male, for the 1980 Republican and Democratic presidential nominations.

It didn't take much consciousness-raising to alert the candidates to the fact that women outnumber men in the voting age population of the United States.

And it would require no extraordinary sensitivity to know that many people bridle at the use of the word "man" to refer to the population at large.

When Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's speechwriters decided to close his announcement of his presidential candidacy with a few lines of poetry by Thomas Wolfe, they ran into a problem. Wolfe wrote, "So, then, to every man his chance."

No candidate for the 1980s would dare use such sexist language.

So, Kennedy's speechwriters simply rewrote Wolfe, or, if you prefer, misquoted him.

"So, then, to all persons their chance," said the senator.

The Senate is debating the "windfall profits" tax bill. Which means the best show in town is watching the chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, Sen. Russell Long, D-La., perform his peculiar brand of magic on the Senate floor.

Long is regarded by his colleagues as one of the ablest and wildest of legislators. Senators who find themselves on the opposite side of issues view Long as a master of slipping items through when no one is paying close attention.

So, with the Thanksgiving holiday approaching and Long on the floor last week, a few senators began getting a bit nervous.

"Am I to understand, just for my special information, so that the tension can be removed, that there will be no further roll call votes this evening?" asked Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis.

Long said he'd be happy to send for Nelson if there were a vote, but he wasn't willing to guarantee there wouldn't be one.

"My audience might disappear," said the Louisiana senator.

"The senator does not have much of an audience," noted Nelson.

"I would rather have people in doubt, so that we will have a few people around to hear the debate," said Long. "But if the senator will leave word where he is and where he can be found, I will send for the senator."

"Fine," said Nelson. "I will tell the senator right now, I will be at home."

Letter To The Editor

A Sad Experience

Dear Editor:

After twenty six years of life in Murray and seven years away, my last drive down Main Street was a sad experience.

I realize progress must prevail and have been able to accept hamburger corner and take pride in the expansion and renovation of Murray State University, but I absolutely refuse to accept a car lot in place of Murray's most prestigious home, the likes of which could not be duplicated.

The days of the old Swan home were numbered several years ago, but I, and I suspect many others, thought someone would come to the rescue. Perhaps the destruction of this beautiful home is a fitting memorial to the automobile, which has long been a king in the city's economy.

With East Main in ruins, I can only imagine a long line of Ford's parked in hot sunshine with red, yellow and blue banners flying, on a bed of pale grey limestone at the corner of 16th & Main.

Second Business In Owensboro About To Close Its Doors

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP) — For the second time in two weeks, a major downtown Owensboro business is about to close its doors.

Karl Daniel, operator of Daniel Furniture City and the leader of Owensboro's downtown merchants' association, says he can earn more money working for an out-of-state company than he could working for himself.

He announced Monday that he is resigning as president of the Owensboro Downtown Business and Professional Association to work full-time at phasing out his store.

Two weeks ago, the S.S. Kresge Co. announced that its store will close Christmas Eve after 55 years in Owensboro.

Kresge's is located one block east of Daniel's store.

Daniel's 6-year-old business will be closed the rest of the week, and will reopen for a going-out-of-business sale on Monday, the proprietor said. He said the store will close for good by Jan. 12, 1980.

The furniture store owner, who is leasing the building that houses his store, said he would like to sublet. But he said he has no firm prospects for tenants.

Kresge's lease expires in January and has not been renewed. No new tenants are lined up for that space, either.

Daniel said he is not "backing out" on downtown Owensboro, which has seen many stores close or move to shopping malls in recent years.

"There's a lot of future in downtown Owensboro for the smallest and largest retailers," he said.

He was chosen president of the merchants' association in February, and promised a strong campaign to improve the downtown shopping district.

"The problems are many," Daniel said Monday. "We've been able to handle some of them, but some will take several years to solve."

He said Owensboro merchants have pooled more money this year for joint promotions of the downtown district, and that plans to erect signs directing motorists to the shopping district also are in the works.

Daniel said the time involved in holding his liquidation sale will keep him from putting enough time into the association job. Oscar Grant, vice president of the organization, will move up to fill Daniel's term.

Typical Opening

Mistakes Highlight First MHS Game Of Season

By STEVE BECKER
Sports Reporter

"A typical opening game," was the way that Murray High coach Cary Miller described last night's 66-59 victory over visiting Trigg County. In celebration of the new season, the two squads combined for a total of 104 mistakes (personal fouls and turnovers) as neither team could seem to get its attack running smoothly.

Though their offense from the floor might have been lacking the Tigers put on a sterling performance from the free throw line. The locals hit 32 free tosses compared to 17 for the Wildcats on the way to connecting for just a shade under 70 percent of their foul shots. Murray's ability to hit the charity shot made the difference in an otherwise close contest.

Up by a 44-39 margin heading into the final period, the Tigers were content to work for the open shot. Murray's conservative tack allowed Trigg County to edge to within two at 53-51 midway through the period. The Wildcats relied mainly on the play of Bobby Gray during this time. Gray had eight of his 17 points in the final stanza.

Tiger patience finally began to pay off as the Wildcats were whistled for 15 fourth quarter fouls. More important, Murray was able to connect on 18 of the 25 shots it attempted from the line during the final eight minutes.

Todd Bradshaw, who hit all six of his fourth quarter tries, and Howie Crittenden, with 4 of 5 from the stripe in the same period led the Tigers down the stretch as Trigg County refused to fold. The Wildcats clung to within three points throughout the final minutes as Gray and Calvin Baker continuously threatened the Murray advantage with their explosive drives.

Four straight free throws by Greg Latto and Bobby Daniel in the final seconds assured the Tigers of a triumph in the season debut for both teams.

Crittenden led all scorers, pumping in 20 markers. Daniel and Bradshaw also managed to crack double figures for the Tigers adding 13 and 10 points respectively.

For Trigg Co., Baker matched Gray's 17, as the skywalking duo paced the Wildcat scorers in the losing effort. Guard Todd Cain chipped in 10 for Trigg.

Though the game had many miscues and much ragged play, Miller was genuinely happy with his team's victory. "It may not have been pretty but it still counts as a win," he commented. When queried

Two All-Conference Selections Recruited By MSU Grid Program

Greg Wright and John Alexander, two All-Western Kentucky Conference selections the past two seasons, are the first pair of recruits for Murray State and football coach Mike Gottfried.

Wright, a tailback and defensive back, and Alexander, an offensive and defensive lineman, helped Heath High School to an 8-2 record this season.

The 6-1, 185-pound Wright rushed for 3,000 yards, his three years as a regular in the offensive backfield, including 1,400 as a senior. Wright's best one-game effort was 240 yards against Ballard County in the last game of the season.

A four-year letterman in football, Heath combined for a 34-8 record during Wright's years as a regular. An honorable mention All-State selection, Wright was the top offensive back at Heath as a junior and senior. He has also represented Heath at the state track championships two consecutive years and is captain of the 1980 track team.

The 6-2, 207-pound Alexander started three seasons and earned honorable mention All-State selection and helped Heath to a combined 26-5 record over the last three seasons.

He served as captain of the 1979 squad and was the outstanding lineman for Heath this season.

"They are both dedicated and hard workers with a bright future ahead," said Heath coach Jack Haskins. "Both are excellent players and outstanding students."

Gottfried indicated he was extremely pleased to initiate his recruiting campaign with "two impressive athletes who are products of an excellent high school program."

"Both players are talented athletes and have a winning attitude," said Gottfried. "This gets our recruiting effort off to an exciting start."

about his feelings concerning the way that his squad played Miller added: "We are a young team and we made a lot of young mistakes. The way we stayed calm and made our foul shots when we had to in the fourth quarter, however, showed me that this team has a lot of heart and potential." Murray High will be in action Friday night at Paducah Tilghman.

Trigg County opened the game with a quick flurry of points and held an 11-4 edge before the Tigers could get turned around. Five straight points by Crittenden late in the quarter, and four free throws by Latto pulled Murray to within 17-13 at the first stop.

The Tigers outscored Trigg 18-12 in the second frame to creep into a 31-29 half-time lead. Bobby Daniel picked up the scoring slack for Murray, tossing in six second quarter tallies. Two more buckets by Crittenden enabled the Tigers to open up a six-point bulge late in the half. Two quick baskets by the Wildcat's Cain allowed Trigg County to cut the Murray lead to two at the half.

Trigg opened up the second half with back-to-back goals by Tim Shannon and Cain to take their final advantage of the contest at 33-31. Two long-range bombs by Crittenden gave Murray the lead for good at the 4:37 mark in the third quarter. With Guy Furr hitting two free throws late in the period and Crittenden adding one, the Tigers built a five point lead going into the final frame and set the stage for the ensuing free throw derby.

Trigg JV's 49
Murray JV's 31
Holding a slim 19-16 half-time lead, the Trigg County junior varsity exploded for 30 second half points en route to a 49-31 verdict over the Murray yearlings. Mark Greer led the winners with 15 points. Rodney Vinson and Tim Humphries added 12 and 10 respectively for Trigg. Al Wells and David McMillian split 16 points to lead the Tigers.

Trigg took an early 9-2 lead and was never really headed, as the Wildcats rode the outside shooting of Greer and the inside board work of Vinson to take their first victory of the young season. The bruising rebounding of Bruce Taylor and some perimeter shooting success by McMillian kept Murray in the contest early, but a superior Wildcat offense spelled defeat for the young Tigers.

Four New Faces To Be In Lineup For Murray State

Four new faces will be in the Murray State starting lineup tonight as the Racers host the Australian Olympic squad in an exhibition basketball game at Racer Arena with tip-off scheduled for 8 p.m.

Senior Allen Mann, who ended last season with scoring outputs of 14, 15 and 20 points, will be joined by two freshmen and two transfers in the lineup when the Racers face the taller and more experienced team from Australia.

Gary Hooker, a 6-5 transfer from Mississippi State, and Glen Green, a 6-6 freshman from Henderson County, will team with Mann to patrol under the basket while 5-10 freshman Mont Slets of Eminence and 6-4 Jerry Smith, a transfer from Negsho Junior College, will operate at guards.

Racer coach Ron Green indicated, however, he will alternate his lineup throughout the contest with pre-season all-conference choice Kenney Hammonds, slowed in pre-season drills with an injury, first off the bench.

The Australian squad is coached by Lindsey Gaze and has won four out of its last five outings, including a 70-69 final advantage Monday night over Butler. The Australian roster includes 7-0 Peter Walsh and 6-9 Rocky Crosswhite, both veterans of the Montreal Olympics, and leading scorer Philip Smyth.

Tickets for the game are on sale at the MSU basketball office in Stewart Stadium and will be available at the door beginning at 5:30 p.m.

Murray State's Lady Racers will go after win number three on the season tonight as they host Louisville in their first KWIC contest of the season. Murray State is 2-1 for the season, including the championship in the Missouri Western Tip-Off Tournament.

Tip-off for the Lady Racers game is set for 6 p.m.

MSU Rodeo To Start Thursday

Bulldogging and bronco-busting is coming to town again, as the Murray State University rodeo team will sponsor a rodeo to be held Nov. 29-Dec. 1 at the West Kentucky Livestock and Exposition Center. Starting time each night will be at 7:30.

Around 250 cowboys and cowgirls from 15 universities in the Ozark Region of the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association (NIRA) will compete in the event, according to Donna Rankin, rodeo team member.

Rankin said the first two nights of competition will be preliminary rounds with the top ten individuals in each event competing in Saturday night's final round.

Categories for the cowboys include saddle bronc riding, bareback bronc riding, bull riding, steer wrestling and calf roping. Girls' events are goat tying, barrel racing and breakaway roping.

Points are awarded for individual and team performances and are tallied throughout the rodeo season, that normally runs the entire school year. Rankin said individuals and teams having the most points at the end of the season are invited to the national championship finals.

held each June in Bozeman, Mont.

Rodeo livestock contractor Don McKee, Caulfield, Mo., will provide animals for the three-day event, sanctioned by the NIRA. Neal Davis, Beebe, Ark., is scheduled to be announcer.

Clowns also will be on hand. Rankin said the purpose of the clowns, generally former rodeo performers, is for entertainment and to assist any performers who might be in trouble with any of the livestock.

It will be the second rodeo of the season for the Racer team.

Leading Dodger Hurler Selected As National League's Top Rookie

NEW YORK (AP) — Rick Sutcliffe, a rock-solid starter on a troubled Los Angeles Dodgers pitching staff, was named today as the National League's Rookie of the Year for 1979.

Sutcliffe, who led the Dodger staff in victories with 17 after starting spring training with little hope of making the team, was an easy winner over outfielders Jeff Leonard of Houston and Scot Thompson of Chicago.

The Baseball Writers Association of America handed Sutcliffe 20 out of a possible 24 votes while Leonard received three and Thompson one.

"I still don't believe I won it," said an incredulous but euphoric Sutcliffe, who had a 17-10 record and a 3.46 earned run average in the 242 innings he pitched. "I didn't think that pitchers had as good a chance as the everyday player because they don't get the exposure. I don't know who I impressed."

The writers, though, were obviously impressed with Sutcliffe's energetic performance after inauspicious beginnings.

"It didn't even look like I would make the club," Sutcliffe said. "The Dodgers had a lot of name pitchers down in spring training. But, fortunately for me, there were a lot of sore arms. I had to beat out Pete Broberg for the eighth spot on the staff." Sutcliffe spent some time in the bullpen at the start of the year, then got his chance to shine when Burt Hooton was felled one day by the flu. That was May 3.

"I remember I pitched a complete game against Philadelphia," Sutcliffe said. "I didn't know I was starting until about an hour or two before the game."

Ironically, the 6-foot-7 rookie had run three miles that day, not knowing he would be in the starting lineup.

"Then I won the next few games and stayed in the starting rotation the rest of the season," Sutcliffe said. "Someone asked me late in the year if I ever thought I'd have that many victories and I said, sure, but in Triple A, not the majors."

Sutcliffe closed with a rush, winning nine of his last 11 decisions to help the Dodgers finish strong in the NL West race. Six of his 10 losses, by the way, were by one run.

Sutcliffe is the eighth Dodger to win the award — a major league record — since it was started by the BBWA in 1947. The others included Jackie Robinson the first year; Don Newcombe in 1949; Joe Black in 1952; Jim Gilliam in 1953; Frank Howard in 1960; Jim Lefebvre in 1965 and Ted Sizemore in 1969.

"It's a crime we couldn't have won our division," Sutcliffe said. "I think we have the best talent in the league. But we all got down ourselves after the pitching fell apart. I think with the addition of Don Stanhouse and Dave Goltz, we'll be a lot tougher next year."

Leonard batted .290 with 47 RBIs in 134 games for the Astros. Thompson played in 128 games for the Cubs, batting .289.

Montreal's No. 10 Best Guy In Hockey History

By The Associated Press
He isn't just another Guy who plays hockey.

"I've seen a lot of hockey players in my life, but my No. 10 is the greatest of all," says Montreal Coach Bernie Geoffrion of Guy Lafleur.

It's a boast with some substance to it, since Lafleur continues to prove himself as one of the most consistent players in the National Hockey League.

Tuesday night he scored two goals and assisted on another as the Canadiens rallied from a four-goal deficit to tie the Detroit Red Wings 5-5.

"Lafleur's the best," continued Geoffrion. "He never stops. The more he plays, the better he is."

The Canadiens were down 4-0 when Lafleur finally got them a point with his 19th goal of the year at 14:15 of the second period. Lafleur later assisted on a goal by Pierre Larouche early in the third period and scored again with 17:20 left in the game for Montreal's fourth goal.

Serge Savard eventually got the tying goal for Montreal with two minutes left in the game.

In other NHL action, Buffalo defeated Boston 5-2; Philadelphia turned back Hartford 6-2; Toronto tripped Atlanta 5-3; St. Louis beat Quebec 4-2 and Los Angeles trimmed Winnipeg 5-3.

Sabres 5, Bruins 2

Derek Smith's goal put Buffalo in front in the second minute and the close-checking Sabres pressed Boston all over the ice in beating the Bruins. Smith broke in alone on Bruins goalie Gerry Cheevers for the score at 1:17. Danny Gare added a second Buffalo goal just as a Sabres' power play expired at 9:14 of the same period.

Craig Ramsay and Richard Martin added goals for the Sabres in the second period as they breezed to their sixth victory in seven games and moved to within two points of firstplace Boston in the Adams Division.

Flyers 6, Whalers 2

Right wing Reggie Leach scored two goals to run his total to 17 in 18 games and lead Philadelphia over Hartford. The victory stretched Philadelphia's undefeated streak to 18 games (15-0-3) since a 9-2 loss at Atlanta, Oct. 13.

The victory also ran the Flyers' home record to 18-1-1 since March 11, 1979, and their unbeaten streak at home to 11 games (10-0-1). The Flyers now have an 11-point lead over Atlanta in the Patrick Division.

Maple Leafs 5, Flames 3

Rookie defenseman Greg Hotham scored his first NHL goal to start Toronto over Atlanta. Hotham, who was the Maple Leafs' fifth-round draft pick in 1976 and played for New Brunswick of the American Hockey League last year, beat Atlanta's Dan Bouchard from just beyond the right faceoff circle.

Defenseman Borje Salming scored twice, the first time from 45 feet out and the second from the right faceoff circle. His goals were part of a 16-shot barrage fired at Bouchard in the first period.

Blues 4, Nordiques 2

Blair Chapman scored two goals and assisted on another to lead St. Louis over Quebec, stretching the Nordiques' winless streak to five games. Chapman, acquired Nov. 13 from the Pittsburgh Penguins, has now scored five goals and registered three assists in eight games with the Blues.

Kings 5, Jets 3

Butch Goring fired in a pair of goals, including an insurance score late in the game, leading Los Angeles over Winnipeg. The Jets threatened to catch the Kings early in the final period when Peter Sullivan scored his 11th goal of the season at 2:09 to cut the Los Angeles lead to 4-3.

But Goring, taking a pass from Steve Jensen, faked out Winnipeg goalie Pierre Hamel and fired in a 10-footer to make it 5-3 with 5:04 to go.

Hall Alters Schedule For Alaskan Shootout Tourney In Anchorage

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky Coach Joe B. Hall has altered his basketball team's schedule for this weekend's Great Alaskan Shootout tournament in Anchorage.

Each of the tournament's eight teams has been invited to a banquet Thursday night, but the Wildcats will be absent.

"By the time that starts, it would be 3 a.m. (EST) before they got to bed and we have a game the next day," Hall said. "That would be ridiculous."

Some UK fans watching or listening to the Wildcats at home may think the entire schedule is ridiculous if Kentucky reaches the final round. Because of a five-hour difference in time zones, the title game will begin at 2 a.m. EST Monday.

Kentucky begins lower bracket play against Bradley at 8 p.m. EST Friday. The other lower-bracket game pits Pacific against the host University of Alaska at Anchorage.

Upper bracket games, include Iowa against Texas A&M and Lamar Tech against Long Beach State.

Each of the Wildcats' three games will be broadcast live on the UK Radio Network and televised on stations in Lexington, Louisville, Bowling Green, Hazard, Paducah, Huntington, W.Va., and Nashville, Tenn.

Kentucky, ranked second to Indiana in the preseason college basketball poll, will take an 0-1 record against Bradley. The Wildcats dropped an 82-76 overtime decision to third-ranked Duke in the Hall of Fame Classic at Springfield, Mass., two weeks ago.

A victory over Bradley would pit the Wildcats against the Pacific-Alaska winner at 8 p.m. EST Saturday. A loss, however, would mean a loser's bracket game at midnight EST.

The Wildcats are scheduled to leave Lexington at 8:05 a.m. EST Thursday, arriving in Anchorage at 7:05 p.m. EST after a 3½-hour layover in Chicago.

Utah Jazz Coach Pleased With Team Now

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Fourteen consecutive losses and an overall record of 2-19 would discourage some people, but not Utah Jazz Coach Tom Nissalke.

"We've got a good team now," contended Nissalke Tuesday night after the Jazz dropped a 122-118 decision to the Los Angeles Lakers. "I'm pleased with our team now."

Utah has made wholesale roster changes since the franchise was moved from New Orleans to Salt Lake City over the summer. Nissalke and general manager Frank Layden feel they are gradually accumulating the players they want, even though the club's record is by far the worst in the National Basketball Association.

Perhaps Utah's best move was the trade of forwards that brought Adrian Dantley from Los Angeles in exchange for Spencer Haywood on Sept. 13. Dantley burned his teammates for a career-high 50 points Tuesday night, the most by any player this season.

But it was not enough to provide a victory for the Jazz's largest home crowd of the season, 11,673. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar clinched the triumph for the Lakers with six free throws in the final 30 seconds.

In other NBA games, the Atlanta Hawks outgunned the San Antonio Spurs 143-120, the New Jersey Nets beat the Milwaukee Bucks 118-93, the New York Knicks edged the Detroit Pistons 116-114 in overtime, the San Diego Clippers defeated the Chicago Bulls 128-103, the Kansas City Kings nipped the Houston Rockets 117-115 and the Denver Nuggets beat the Washington Bullets 96-91.

Jamaal Wilkes led Los Angeles with 29 points, including 12 in the second period when the Lakers built a 91-83 lead. Abdul-Jabbar finished with 28.

Second Heisman Toughest To Win — Archie Griffin

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

The second, one is the toughest, says Archie Griffin, referring to Billy Sims' bid for a duplicate Heisman Trophy.

"You don't think about it much the first time," adds the 5-foot-9, 193-pound ball-carrier out of Ohio State, the only player ever to be twice voted the best college football player in America. "You're just out there doing the best you can for the team."

"Once you've won it, you're a target. Also, you start pressing. It's natural. You don't like the thought of somebody taking it away — not while you're still playing."

"If Sims had asked me for any advice before this season, I would have told him to try to forget about the Heisman and just concentrate on his job."

Sims, the hard-running Oklahoma halfback who captured the Heisman a year ago after leading the nation with 1,762 yards rushing, is involved in close competition with Southern California's Charles White for the 1979 honor.

Voting completed, the winner will be announced next Monday by New York's Downtown Athletic Club.

White is regarded as the favorite.

White, a 6-foot, 183-pound dervish, has run for 1,803 yards and 18 touchdowns this year compared with 1,506 yards and 22 touchdowns for the 205-pound Sims, who carried for 529 yards in his last two games. Records of the two men are quite similar. White scoring 296 points and Sims 300 for their regular-season careers.

Griffin, now with the Cincinnati Bengals, won the trophy in 1974 and 1975, amassing a career total of 5,589 yards and 26 touchdowns, both Ohio State records, while performing for Woody Hayes. He had 31 consecutive games in which he ran for 100 yards or more.

He was the fifth player since the award was inaugurated in 1935 to win in his junior year. The others were: Doc Blanchard, Army, 1945; Doak Walker, Southern Methodist, 1948; Vic Janowicz, Ohio State, 1950; and Roger Staubach, Navy, 1963. None repeated.

Griffin learned to his dismay that the Heisman is not an automatic "sesame" that opens the door to superstardom in the pros. A conscientious team man who brought the same skills he had in college to the Bengals, he has not — in the vernacular — set the world ablaze.

The gauge of a good running back is a 1,000-yard-plus season, preferably nearer 1,500. Griffin, despite his collegiate heroics, has never reached that plateau, collecting 625, 549 and 484 his first three seasons.

Archie said he has watched both White and Sims on TV and, if he were a selector, would be hard-pressed to make a choice.

"Sims is bigger," he added, "a very powerful and deceptive runner. White gets the ball more. He has terrific moves."

Archie says one of his 25-pound Heisman trophies has been given to his mother, the other he keeps himself.

"Constant reminders," he added, "that God gave me something special. I am humbled. The trophies help me glorify God."

Quarterback Providing New Electricity For Buffalo Since 'The Juice's' Departure

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — "The Juice" may be gone from the huddle of the Buffalo Bills, but new electricity is being generated by a recent decision to let quarterback Joe Ferguson call the plays.

"I think everyone feels a little more a part of our offense," guard Reggie McKenzie says. "We can suggest things that will work, as in the case (Sunday) where a receiver (Jerry Butler) told him he could beat the defender long."

Butler's 51-yard catch against New England's Rick Sanford was the next-to-last play of the game and set up the field goal that sealed a 16-13 National Football League victory in overtime for the Bills.

The win was their third in a row — all since Ferguson began to mastermind the attack.

"I think we all felt that with the progress our football team was making at the point of the Jets game (first in the win streak) that the next step would be the leadership role Joe could give us on the field," quarterback coach Kay Stephenson said Tuesday.

"We knew he was more than capable. The story was that he had never called the plays even in high school, but you have to be around the guy and know his preparation and work habits to appreciate him."

The so-called "greening of the Bills" — now 7-6 and playoff-minded — has hinged on the greening of Ferguson.

In two years, he has risen from a loser image to the undisputed team leader and its most important player, filling a void left when running back O.J. Simpson was traded to San Francisco early in 1978.

Ferguson's 235 yards passing against New England pushed his 1979 total to 2,926 and eclipsed a team record of 2,914 set by Jack Kemp in 1963. The seven-year pro has thrown for more touchdowns than Kemp in eight years and next season is expected to break most of Kemp's career records.

Ferguson said becoming a field boss has iced the cake of his best season.

"The more experience I get with it the better it feels," he said.

"I think the whole team feels a little more excited in the huddle now," he added. "We're not standing around waiting for something to come in from the sidelines, plus you just feel like you're more into the game."

The first Bills quarterback in a decade to call the shots — officials said Kemp was the last — Ferguson said he still draws on Knox and Stephens for advice.

Ferguson, 29, doe-eyed and handsome in the "Bambi" mold of former NFL star Lance Alworth, said he has no time for "the outside life" during the season.

He trains hard, starting one day before his teammates to review the next opponent, and has innovated a mini-team meeting Thursday nights where receivers and running backs review films and discuss game action.

If Ferguson accomplishes nothing else this season, he has carved a new image for the Bills as a passing team.

Art And Love Choices For Russian Skaters

CINCINNATI (AP) — Oleg Protopopov and his wife, Ludmila, had to choose between art and love when they decided to leave Russia.

They chose art — the art they speak of when they talk about their figure skating, which has won them two Olympic gold medals and four world championships.

Although art won out, they both acknowledge that the decision to defect from their homeland was painful. The Protopopovs sought asylum in Switzerland last September and have since signed a three-year contract with the Ice Capades.

"Of course, it is difficult to lose my mother and her sister, but what can we do?" Protopopov said in an interview before the ice show's performance Tuesday. "We had to choose either to skate like an artist and give gladness to many thousands of people or to be with sister and mother and not to give gladness. We chose the latter."

They say their decision was not a spur-of-the-moment thing, nor was it politically motivated. Although Ice Capades officials decline to say how much money they are being paid, they say the Protopopovs' salary is comparable to that of other stars such as Dorothy Hamill.

The couple said that money was also not a consideration in their decision to defect.

What caused them to leave their homeland were restrictions on their skating, such as the small ice surfaces available in Russia.

Calloway Middle Boys, Girls Post Wins Over Hickman

The Calloway County Middle School boys' and girls' basketball teams were victorious Tuesday night against the Hickman County squads.

Darnell Tharpe, with 18 points and 5 assists, led the boys to a 52-25 triumph. Todd Albritton and Mark Duncan each chipped in 8 points while Chris Sheridan added 7 points and 4 assists. Duncan also led the Lakers in rebounds.

The Calloway girls romped to a 40-14 win. Tammy Treas led all scorers with 9 points. Cindy Anderson contributed 8, Rhonda McAllister 7 and Beth Hooks 6 for Calloway. McAllister pulled down 6 rebounds while Anderson totalled 5.

Libby Spears paced Hickman with 6 points.

Toys To Be Focus Of State's Program From Now Until Christmas

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Between now and Christmas, toys will be the focus of the state's on-going product safety monitoring program. Continuing "Operation Toybox," the Department for Human Resources consumer product safety branch will be making unannounced inspections for retail toy outlets around the state. Inspectors will be looking for toys that are potentially dangerous to children and that do not comply with certain federal standards.

Also inspected will be toy distributors, manufacturers, plants and import houses.

The branch will work closely with the federal Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC), says branch manager Edsel Moore.

Moore says the department's inspectors will be able to do more complete testing of toys than they did last year. "At that time, we could test only for lead content in paints. When we suspected other hazards, we sent the toys to the CPSC for testing," he said. "This year, with certain new requirements and tests developed by the CPSC, we can perform a check for sharp edges, sharp points and parts small enough to choke a child."

Inspectors also will watch for baby rattles that do not comply with a standard that prevents hazards to infants, says Moore.

The increased capability will make it easier for the state's inspectors to identify toys that are in non-compliance with federal guidelines, Moore says. Last year, the consumer product safety branch identified and quarantined from retail shelves more than 100 toys it determined to be unsafe or that were subject to a federal government recall.

"Even with all the effort the department is making to remove hazardous toys from retail shelves, the most important part of toy safety is the awareness of toy shoppers," says Moore. "Proper selection of toys can, in itself, substantially reduce toy-related injuries." Moore listed these tips for toy shoppers:

+Shop for toys that match a child's interests. Toys should "fit" the child's age, interest and abilities.

+When toy shopping, don't be motivated by price alone. Look for qualities such as durability, construction and education potential.

+Read labels on toys carefully before the toy is purchased. A label that says "Not Recommended for Children Under 8 Years of Age" does not mean that every 8-year-old is mature enough to use the toy. It does mean that the toy should not be given to any child under 8 years of age, however bright the child may seem.

+Inspect electric toys closely and look for the presence of a symbol of endorsement by an independent testing organization such as Underwriters Laboratories.

+Consider the ages of all children in a family when buying toys. A chemistry set for a 12 year old can be dangerous if the child doesn't have a safe place to use it or a safe spot to keep it away from a curious 4-year-old brother or sister.

Anyone who wants more information or who feels he or she has purchased an unsafe toy may contact the Department for Human Resources, Consumer Product Safety Branch, 275 E. Main, Frankfort, Ky. 40621. The telephone number is (502) 564-4537.

Hopkinsville College Of Bible Wants Accreditation

The Hopkinsville College of the Bible, organized in 1883, currently is applying for accreditation that will require enormous improvements in the facility and a cash flow. School officials say there is a need for an adequate library, upgrade of building's condition and faculty and an acquisition of a small endowment.

The school endeavors to educate and train ministers and laity in the tenets of the Bible and the art of Christian living.

Officials added they would appreciate any type of help toward the school.

Basketball Exhibition

Tickets for the game are on sale at the main branches of Peoples Bank, Bank of Murray, Dennison Hunt, and the MSU Basketball Office at Murray State. Tickets are $4 for reserved and $2 for general admission.

CONCERT

The Murray State Madrigal Singers will present a concert on November 29 at 8:15 p.m. in the Farrell Recital Hall of the Fine Arts Center at Murray State University.

BIBLE SCHOOL — The Hopkinsville College of the Bible is seeking accreditation that will require improvements in the facility and the cash flow. Aiding in the improvements are (from left, first row) Rev. William Hornbuckle, field worker; Mrs. Glenda Noel, field worker and committee chairman; Dr. Austin Bell, president; Rosa Oldham, field worker; Rosa Oldham's niece; and Rev. H.H. Belle, faculty member and former moderator. (Second row) James Willoughby, friend of the college; Rev. Lonnie Wilson, student; and Rev. James Western, student.

MSU Veterinary Center Tries To Upgrade Diagnosing

An intensified effort is being made at the Murray State University Veterinary Diagnostic and Research Center at Hopkinsville to improve accuracy in the diagnosing of causes of abortions in livestock.

According to Dr. Wade L. Kadel, director of the center, specimens submitted for routine diagnostic examinations will be subjected to more test procedures, and research activities also will be intensified in a concentrated effort to learn more about viruses, common and unknown, as abortion-causing agents.

Abortions in cattle and swine have many causes, Kadel said. Almost every producer is familiar with Brucellosis, or Bangs Disease, an infectious abortion, which for years has been on the state and federal eradication lists, he said. "This control program gradually is reducing the disease within manageable limits," he added.

The many types of the disease Leptospirosis infection, can all interrupt pregnancy in livestock, Kadel went on, adding that a vaccine is available, which, when used properly, can effectively control this disease.

Kadel also revealed that in short-term research project has been designed at the center to provide a badly needed data base for use in differentiating the antibody level attained by vaccinated animals, diseased animals and vaccinated animals that are diseased.

A joint effort between scientists at the center and animal husbandrymen on the main campus at Murray has made available additional research facilities at the university for the project.

The project will not involve the use of live, disease-causing organisms, he pointed out, adding that major research efforts utilizing abortion-causing organisms await completion of current construction of the center's expansion program.

The diagnostic activities at the center, Kadel went on, will continue to use immunology as a means of diagnosing a wide variety of abortion diseases. The center currently and routinely diagnoses abortions caused by:

The IBR (rednose) virus, the BVD (virus diarrhea) virus, bovine vibriosis, and a serologic procedure recently was added, permitting the diagnosing of Eperythrozoonosis (commonly called "EPE") as a cause of abortion in swine.

The infection of the fetus or the maternal membrane with a fungus can result in abortion, Kadel said, and special efforts will be made in the future to accurately diagnose fungus infections as a cause of abortion. Various nutritional deficiencies can result in fetal death and abortion, he said.

The center's director went on to say that in the months to come, the center's personnel will investigate selenium deficiency as a cause of abortion in cattle. Research completed in recent months by the center's scientists has confirmed that some corn produced in West Kentucky was deficient in selenium.

Mycotoxins also is a disease condition resulting from animals consuming feed stuffs contaminated with poisons produced by molds, Kadel said. "Mycotoxins sometimes can result in abortion, and efforts will be intensified to expand the center's ability to diagnose mold poisoning as a cause of this problem," he said.

The cooperation of livestock producers and Kentucky's veterinarians will be required if the center is to improve its diagnostic and research efforts aimed at reducing economic losses caused by abortion, Kadel went on.

"Producers are encouraged to be patient with veterinary practitioners as they comply with the center's request for additional specimens," he said, "and to take care in packing and labeling their specimens properly."

The extent of the center's determination to obtain an accurate diagnosis is reflected in its $45,000 electron microscope, the only such instrument used in Kentucky routinely to diagnose animal diseases.

"The ability of the center to diagnose livestock abortions is as good as that of any diagnostic laboratory in the country, and is superior to most," Kadel said, adding, however, that he was "not satisfied with the present situation of only providing positive diagnoses for 35 percent of the cases processed."

"We are determined to upgrade our diagnostic capabilities in this area," he said.

CONCERT

Racing Commission Grants December Dates To Latonia

LEXINGTON, Ky. — The Kentucky State Racing Commission has granted December racing dates to Latonia Race Track at Florence.

At its last meeting, held Nov. 8, the commission rejected the track's request for the dates because it was felt the commission could not legally do so.

However, Franklin Circuit Court Judge Square Williams Jr. ruled Friday the commission does have the authority to grant the dates.

The meet will be held from Nov. 27 to Dec. 31 with no racing on Sundays and Dec. 24, 25, and 26.

Also at today's meeting the commission appointed Jean Chalk as state steward for the meet.

Heritage Commission Approves 30 Sites In Western Kentucky

FRANKFORT, Ky. — The Heritage Commission recently approved 30 sites in Western Kentucky for listing on the Survey of Historic Sites in Kentucky.

Two were historic sites: Geibel House, Paducah, (McCracken County) and Upper Donaldson Creek School, near Cadiz, (Trigg County).

Two archaeological sites in Hopkins County and 26 archaeological sites in Muhlenberg County were also listed. The Muhlenberg sites were listed as a result of the ongoing work of the commission survey teams.

Sites are usually added to the Survey of Historic Sites in Kentucky by one of three ways: a county representative of the Kentucky Heritage Commission submits a recommendation; an interested individual or group recommends it; or the ongoing historic and prehistoric surveys conducted by the commission's professional staff produce new additions.

Tri-County MSU Alumni Get-Together Set For Henderson

The annual "get-together" of the Tri-County - Murray State University Alumni organization has been scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Monday, Dec. 3, at the Elks Lodge on U.S. 60 East at Henderson.

A steak dinner will be served at $6 per person, and a number of University representatives, headed by Murray State President Constantine W. Curris, are expected to attend.

Others include vice-president for university services Marshall Gordon, athletic director Johnny Reagan, head football coach Mike Gottfried and head basketball coach Ron Greene.

Credit Card Brings Conveniences And Shoppers' Problems

The credit card has brought many conveniences to the American shopper. However, it has also created problems.

One such problem is personal liability for lost or stolen cards. Thieves can take advantage of this situation by making unauthorized purchases with stolen credit cards.

Many insurance companies now offer credit card insurance which limits your liability if your cards are lost or stolen. Credit card companies have also started offering this type insurance. Payments are usually low and are automatically charged to your account.

Before you consider buying such insurance, you should know that the law already protects your credit cards by limiting your liability for lost or stolen cards.

The Truth in Lending Act protects you from getting taken for large amounts of money by someone who has found or stolen your credit cards. If your cards are lost or stolen, you do not have to pay for any unauthorized charges, but you must write the company notifying them of the loss.

The most you will ever have to pay for any unauthorized charges is $50 per credit card. Even if someone runs up several thousand dollars worth of charges before you report the card missing, your liability is still limited to $50 per card.

Be sure to keep a list of your credit card numbers separate from your credit cards so you can immediately notify your card companies of your loss.

The Truth in Lending Act gives you added protection in that it states credit card companies may not collect any loss from you unless they can prove several things.

They must prove they issued you the card at your request or that you used it at least once before it was lost. They must also prove there was some means to identify you, such as a photo or signature strip on the card. Card companies must prove they notified you of your potential $50 liability and they provided you with a stamped, self-addressed envelope and form to notify them in case the card was missing.

Because the law already limits your liability for lost or stolen credit cards, you should carefully consider whether or not you actually need credit card insurance. Don't be tricked into buying coverage which the law gives you free.

However, if you have a large number of credit cards, insurance may be desirable. Whatever your decision, be sure you read and understand any insurance policy before you sign.

If you have questions about the law on lost or stolen credit cards, write the Office of the Attorney General, Consumer Protection Division, Frankfort, Ky. 40601 or call the toll-free consumer hotline at 1-800-372-2960.

Housing Programming Council To Sponsor Christmas Craft Bazaar

A Christmas craft bazaar, sponsored by the Housing Programming Council at Murray State University, has been scheduled for Thursday, Dec. 6, beginning at 7 p.m.

To be held in the Hart Hall Coffeehouse, the bazaar will afford Murray State faculty, staff and students with an opportunity to display and sell homemade crafts as Christmas gifts, according to Sherry R. LeMaster, the residence halls program coordinator.

This is the second year the bazaar has been held, she said, adding that display tables can be reserved by contacting her at the university's Housing Office or by calling 762-3811.

The public is invited to view the displays and to purchase the crafts exhibited.

Rehabilitation Considerations

FRANKFORT, Ky. — To make an old house useable and still retain its authenticity is a problem for many persons wanting to rehabilitate historic buildings.

What to keep, what to change and where to start are questions on the minds of many private home owners, businessmen and persons associated with local historical societies and government agencies wanting to restore buildings.

According to William Hearn, restoration grants coordinator for the Kentucky Heritage Commission, people need direction, planning and supervision to make rehabilitation projects a success. "Before starting anything, they need a plan — factual and precise plans — to fully understand the building as it now exists. The building should be investigated and documented before work ever begins," Hearn said.

"Historic archaeology of a building can tell us more about certain details such as the cultural lifestyle for which it was built," said Hearn. "Recovery of items, such as locks, keys, and hardware, can tell us what was once part of the building. It can be invaluable in showing additions and changes, so we can stop guessing. An archaeological study can also show us where the early outbuildings were.

"In planning for preservation of rehabilitation of a house, people need to look at the building and record its elements. Too often they have a contractor already on site before studying and making a plan," explained Hearn. "We hope to guide people in the right direction. We don't want to get in the business of advising private home owners what to do with their houses — we want to encourage them to take information, read it, think about it and then make their own decisions."

One of the commission's architectural historians, Ed Chappel, said people used to believe that for a house to be important, it had to be associated with historic events or historic characters, such as Colonial Williamsburg or the birthplaces of famous persons. "A second traditional view of what is important is the earliest building in the area, or those that seem particularly exotic or removed from our own time and technology, such as early timber framed houses in England and New England. And in Kentucky, in many parts of the country, log buildings are an example of a type of building that has a lot of appeal, because they seem so removed from our technology," he added.

He said that preservationists formerly thought that pure restorations were wanted. Pure restoration strips a building of any later additions, such as wings, porches and gables, to make it look as it's believed to have looked at its earliest date.

"The Paul Revere house in Boston, which was restored around the turn of the century, was taken back to the earliest believed date. Without the additions, the house wasn't even the way it had been when Revere lived there. Revere had a large family and had needed a large house to accommodate it," said Chappel.

Our view today is broader and maybe a little more democratic. "A distinctiveness of culture, in a more general way, is shown by the late 19th century stone houses built by German immigrants in Northern Kentucky," Chappel said. "They are an example of a minority culture group that wasn't assimilated into the mainstream. Another example is the buildings of Butchertown, which are small and closely built, but still have distinctive architectural detail. There are thousands of types of buildings that aren't associated with a particular historic individual that still have a lot of aesthetic appeal and cultural importance."

"We recognize that it's not only individual buildings but also the relation of buildings that give special qualities to a community. Especially notable are various courthouses towns in central Kentucky. Some examples are Winchester, Mt. Sterling, Georgetown and Frankfort. In most of those towns the courthouse itself is of much architectural interest, but people are beginning to realize that the commercial districts that surround the courthouses with a great variety of Victorian and earlier styles are of equal importance," Chappel said.

"It's not only the early stage of a building that's important but also the additions. We now recognize the organic growth as part of the beauty of these buildings. All of the different parts should be preserved as part of the history of the buildings," he said. "Changes were made to the Hurst house in Bardonia in 1910 to make it Colonial Revival. Woodford County Piggish Church, an early 19th century plan, but substantial stone church, was changed to make it Gothic Revival. It's part of the cultural change of the region."

Chappel said changes of buildings illustrate the history of the region. "We need to assess what we have from all periods — it's the combination of the old and new that gives much that we often wouldn't have with only the very old."

EXHIBIT

An exhibition of children's art work will be on display from November 26 until December 17 in the Eagle Gallery at Murray State University. Gallery hours are Monday through Friday, 7:30 a.m. - 9 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. - 4 p.m.; and Sunday, 1-4 p.m. There is no charge and the public is invited.

CROSS COUNTRY

Murray State University will sponsor an Invitational Road Relay on December 2. The total distance of the cross country roadway track event is 12 miles. There will be four-man teams with each man running three miles. The event will begin at 10 a.m. at Roy Stewart Stadium at Murray State University.

Moten Tells Conference Representatives

U.S. Exporters Must Learn Manners

FRANKFORT, Ky. — U.S. exporters must do their homework and learn their manners, business representatives were told during the fifth Annual International Trade Conference in Lexington.

It is well worth the time and money to visit the country selected for exports, said Bea Moten, vice president of the Indiana International Export Co. Embarrassing situations can be avoided by knowing a

Low-Income Families Can Apply For Energy Assistance Program

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Low-income families faced with a loss of heat this winter can apply for financial assistance under the federal government's new Energy Crisis Assistance Program.

Grants totaling $3.5 million have been approved for the state and are expected to become available to crisis-needy families by Dec. 3.

Administration of the program will be carried out by the state Department for Human Resources, Bureau for Social Insurance.

Unlike the state's Energy Cost Assistance Program, the federal money is not tied to age or disability requirements.

According to Jack Waddell, bureau commissioner, people may qualify who have an income at or below 125 percent of the poverty level and who are without or will be without heat within 15 days.

The program limits the amount of money a qualifying individual may have in checking and savings accounts. A single person is allowed to have cash assets up to $1,500, while a couple may have up to $2,250. Real property such as homes, cars and jewelry are not counted.

Applicants may receive up to $400 depending on the amount needed to obtain or retain heating service. Generally the bureau will issue a check payable to both the applicant and the heat supplier.

If the $400 limit is not used and another crisis occurs, application may be made for the balance.

To apply, applicants must state the amount needed to have the fuel bill paid and provide verification that a crisis exists and that their home and resource levels are within program limits. Checks will be issued approximately three to five working days after an application is made.

To apply or obtain further information, contact the local Bureau for Social Insurance office or call the Department for Human Resources ombudsman 1-800-372-2973.

Poet Ralph Waldo Emerson was born in 1803.

country's protocol, she added.

"What is necessary is an understanding of the region's philosophy," said Youssef Hassanain, assistant treasurer in the international department of the Louisville Trust Bank. Patience is the key element for dealing with the Middle East, he said.

Business transactions are slower-paced than they are in the United States, and businessmen shouldn't expect to make a deal after only one visit, Hassanain added.

Trading with African nations requires less aggression and more listening than American businessmen are accustomed to, Moten commented.

Firms often think only of trying to sell a product to a country, said Tom Lumley, vice president of the Murphy Manufacturing Co. in New Albany, Ind. "Too often we don't realize that what the country is ready for may not be what we're ready to sell."

Those attending the conference Friday and Saturday included representatives of export businesses and businesses beginning export operations.

The purpose of the conference is to provide informative discussions by industry experts on exporting to specific countries, said Cary Blankenship, international trade economist in the Kentucky Department of Commerce. The Kentucky Department of Commerce, U.S. Department of Commerce, Kentuckyana World Commerce Council and the Small Business Administration hosted the conference.

Conference speakers emphasized that now is an ideal time to begin exporting, since the devaluation of the dollar has made American products more competitive.

"Mexico is going to be a sizeable market in the years to come," said Charles Williams, director of the international department of the First National Bank of Louisville. He said Mexico is looking for investors, semi-manufactured goods and some agricultural products.

Germany is a good market for sophisticated electronics and special technology, said Fritz Schneider, vice president of Martin Sweets Co. in Louisville.

South America and Australia have potential for carefully planned exports, said Alex Parker, president of Parker International in Maysville, and Roberto Rubini, vice president of marketing for W.M. Cissell Manufacturing Co. in Louisville.
